Coastal Marshlands West of Masan Churned Into Boiling Fury

USE FLAME THROWERS
South Koreans in Action Alongside American Allies

(By Howard Handelman)
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)
TOKYO, Aug. 7 — The Korean war's first big American counter-push by 10,000 Marine and Army troops met violent Communist reaction that touched off a thunderous battle tonight in the southern sector west of Pusan.

The coastal marshlands west of Masan, which is 25 miles from all-important Pusan, were churned into a boiling fury after three U. S. regiments, using flame throwers for the first time in the conflict, launched the onslaught.

South Korean Commando units charged into action alongside the Americans against three promptly counter-slugging North Korean divisions in bloody fighting that raged through Monday some 30 to 35 miles west of Pusan.

The air-supported United Nations troops sought to shatter the enemy's main forces which have pushed closest to Pusan, vital port of Korea's southeast tip through which U. S. supplies and reinforcements enter the war theater.

Simultaneously, U. S. 24th Infantry and First Cavalry division as well as South Korean troops farther north and northeast fought to erase or stop at least four Red thrusts across the Nakdong river.

These crossings threatened to slash the 55-mile lifeline rail artery from Pusan northwest to Taegu and to envelop Taegu from the southwest and northeast. Taegu, northwest cornerstone of the Allied defense rectangle is the South Korean provisional capital.

But it was in the southern area, between Chinju and the Masan gateway to Pusan, that the crucial struggle was raging.

There one Marine and two U. S. Army regiments, introducing big Pershing tanks into battle and using flame-hurling armored vehicles went over the top at 6:30 o'clock Monday morning (4:30 p. m. Sunday EDT).

The counter-assault against some 22,500 North Korean troops was un-

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Colorful flag throwing and playing of the unique Alpine horn, by Franz Hug, of Switzerland, delighted the audience, at the final concert of the popular Summer series, given under the auspices of the Doylestown Civic Club. The rain having ceased at nighttime, seats were again filled to capacity.

The Swiss entertainer, who is Olympic champion of flag throwing, also played several concertina numbers, and although the space was so limited, the crowd hugely enjoyed the exhibition of flag twirling, as Mr. Hug, with piano accompaniment, threw the huge square of red silk, centered with a white cross, high in the air and caught it over and over again, after boomerang throws that sent it circling back to him. He said that he was accustomed to throwing it 30 feet in the air.

Following his demonstration of the 12-foot Alpine horn, Mr. Hug coaxed the crowd to sing "Eileen" with him to the accompaniment of the concertina and piano, and explained briefly about a small yodeling hand he has in his own country.

REPUBLICANS EAT 3,000 EARS OF CORN

Over 2100 Gather at Annual Picnic Held At Buckingham

CANDIDATES PRESENT

Breaking all records for attendance and enthusiasm, the annual picnic of the Loyal Republican Club of Bucks County was held Saturday at Buckingham. Attendance was estimated at more than 2100.

Formed in 1937 at the low ebb of Republican strength nationally—the "Maine and Vermont" days—the club has grown steadily and has become an excellent barometer of Republican strength in the county.

Food consumption also set a new record. The picnicers ate 3,000 ears of corn, 5,000 clams and 5,000 hot dogs, together with trimmings. The county's Republican ticket for next fall was in evidence at the gathering, including State Senator Edward B. Watson, and Assemblyman Marvin V. Keller and Wilson L. Yeakel, Congressman Franklin H. Lichtenwalter and his secretary, Albert C. Vaughn, who has been nominated by the Republican party for the seat which Congressman Lichtenwalter is vacating, also were present.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Trouble flared in another part of Asia when Indonesian soldiers clashed with native troops of the Dutch Army. Officials urged both sides to end hostilities.

"Once peace is restored in Korea" it will take "bold and enlightened" statesmanship to end the "irreconcilable and irrevocable division of the world into warring camps," Secretary General Lie said in his annual report on the United Nations. He called 1950 to date a "total stalemate" but said victory in Korea would "immeasurably" enhance the prestige of the United Nations. He restated his stand in favor of member nations being represented by a Government that has the "power" to use and control a state's resources.

The Western world continued to prepare against Communist aggression. Chairman Spofford of the North Atlantic Deputies Council arrived in Paris presumably to urge the French to increase defense expenditures. Winston Churchill at Strasbourg pledged his support to European unification.

total economic mobilization, including wage, price and profit controls. Congressional approval this week of a price and wage program rests upon the ability of House leaders to find a formula resolving the dispute over price controls.

Ask Court to Permit Removal of Bodies From Methodist Cemetery Here

Doylestown — A petition was filed this morning in the Court of Quarter Sessions by J. L. Rubin, Esq., Bristol attorney, in behalf of the trustees of the Bristol Methodist Church. The petition asks for a hearing on Sept. 7, at 10 a. m. on the question to remove the bodies from the Methodist cemetery, Pond and Walnut streets, Bristol to the Bristol Cemetery in Bristol Township.

The petition cites that the cemetery has been established for 150 years and that no family lots have been available since 1865, and that only 75 burials have been made since that date.

The petition further states that the Bristol Methodist Church is without funds to maintain and care for the cemetery and that in the future it will become a public nuisance because of lack of care. The petition states that the cemetery is in a commercial section and interferes with the growth and development of the section. It is further stated that if the request is granted a modern commercial place will be built on the site.

The petition was presented before President Judge Hiram H. Keller and associate judge Edward G. Biester, and is signed by the following members of the trustees of the church: Howard Smoyer, president; Harold F. Hunter, vice president; William A. Michalsky, secretary; Roy F. Fry, treasurer; J. B. Antolich, Philip J. Reed, Livingstone Joyce, Charles G. Rathke, Morris W. Carter.

One of the oldest burying grounds in Bristol, the Bristol Methodist Cemetery, Walnut and Pond streets, is to become the site of a modern super market in the near future, perhaps during the early part of 1951. This step was assured when members of the Bristol Methodist Church gave the trustees of the church authority to enter into a lease with the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company. The church members voted the authority Wednesday evening, June 21st.

The plan is to remove the approximately 500 bodies to a plot in the Bristol Cemetery where they will be re-interred with perpetual care assured. The work of removing the bodies will get underway as soon as the legal requirements are complied with and the conditions demanded by the state are met.

After the tract has been cleared the church will build a building to house a modern super market. A parking area will be a feature of the development. The entire project will then be leased to the A. & P. Company for 10 years with the privilege of renewal in accordance with the terms of the lease.

BOY, 6, FRACTURES COLLARBONE WHEN HE RUNS INTO CAR

Richard Hackett, Bath St., Reported to Have Run From Between Cars

TRUCK GOES IN CANAL

Chief Sander Hunts for A Driver Who Left Scene

Three accidents in this area during the week-end resulted in injuries to two. A Philadelphia man went through a guard cable on Route 13 at "Twin Bridges" at Tyburn road, into the canal. He climbed out through a window of a door of the cab. A Bristol lad, 6, sustained a fractured collarbone in an accident here, and one car crashed into another at Edgely.

When the truck was discovered in the canal by residents of the vicinity, Police Chief Raymond Kirby was called. Seeing the 1½-ton pick-up truck on its side in the canal and a portion of the guard rail down on the west side of the bridge, it was at first thought that perhaps the driver was in the water beneath the vehicle. Units of the Lower Bucks County Marine Association were called, as well as an auto wrecker.

A rescue boat was put into the canal and heavy cables were attached to the truck and the wrecker soon had the vehicle ashore. The water was searched but no individual was found.

Papers in the truck were in the name of Daniel Goettelman, 4501 McKinley street, Philadelphia.

An investigation by Chief Kirby located Goettelman and he went to Kirby's yesterday afternoon. He had suffered a cut on the forehead and on the right leg. He said that he was "out for a ride" when his truck was struck in the rear by another and pushed through the guard cable into the canal. He left the scene.

A six-year-old boy sustained a fractured collarbone yesterday when he reportedly ran out from between two parked cars into the path of an oncoming vehicle.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

Waltham is back in business making clocks for the Air Force. . . . It turned out it was later than Washington originally thought.

After they get enough clocks they're going to make the planes for them that we couldn't afford as recently as June.

Congress twice passed the appropriation for a larger Air Force but we were buying potatoes at the time.

READY FOR SEA!

In the field of military logistics—the art of transporting and equipping fighting men and keeping them supplied wherever they are—plenty of shipping is essential to American aims. Though both the Army and Navy have their own ships for troop and cargo transport, these comprise only a small part of the capacity needed in any large over-water military operation.

Ships are needed not merely to carry men and supplies to the fighting zone. There must be enough ships to bring oil and ores from faraway places. And regular commerce, plus Marshall Plan commerce, must continue if the free world is to stick together.

Hence one should welcome the plans to expand the work of reconditioning ships in the reserve merchant fleet. If "reconditioning" rather than a new shipbuilding program can be expected to fill present needs, the amount of money necessary to do the job will be comparatively small. A single new ship costs several million dollars. Last spring 2,000 government-owned ships were laid up.

When the Korean war broke out there weren't enough merchant ships "ready for sea" on the U. S. Pacific Coast to handle even the relatively small outfits of men and equipment ready to shove off. What excuse could there be for that failure? An apparent scarcity of naval transports on that coast seems even more inexcusable.

Americans can be glad this country is not being caught short of ships as it was in 1941. After World War I merchant shipbuilding came to a standstill. Shortly after Pearl Harbor the War Shipping Administration buttressed the older (1936) Maritime Commission in a great building program.

By government subsidies to offset the difference between the wages of American crews, and by direct shipbuilding subsidies, the United States now has achieved the largest merchant fleet in the world. Ships sold out of the country since the war are mostly owned by American firms.

The shipping picture doesn't look too bad—if officials act promptly to get up steam.

It has been suggested that potatoes be outlawed. They are high-priced, cost millions for subsidies, and make women fat.

A "thinking machine" is getting publicity. One wonders if it has keys for second and third gears.

It is charged Allen Barkley is being pushed into the background for fear he will overshadow Harry. Perhaps he has just reverted to type and is only being Vice President.

One man, caught in a tornado, had his pockets turned inside out.
As a taxpayer he probably had the same thing happen many times before.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Mar. 27, 1902. The Gazette, a weekly news paper published at Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

William G. Buckman, formerly organist at the Presbyterian Church, has been elected organist of the Episcopal Church at Edgington. Arrangements are being made for the purchase of a new two-manual organ.

George Hussey, the Dorrance street butcher, had a hog on exhibition at his shop last week which weighed 877 pounds. One of the hams which Mr. Hussey retailed to his customers on Saturday weighed 100 pounds.

Good Will Hose Co., No. 3, has decided to have the running gears of its new hose wagon painted cream color and the body carmine, the whole to be striped with gold leaf. The members have not yet decided where to place the new 600-pound bell, recently purchased.
There is some talk of erecting a steel tower in which to swing it.

Harry Bunting, the expressman, met with a singular accident at the forge road bridge on Tuesday afternoon. While driving up the hill on Buckley street side, the mules, which he was driving, took fright and turning quickly around began to back, in usual mule fashion. The wagon struck the guard rail with such force as to knock it loose from its fastening, and the mules and wagon went backward down the steep incline into the canal.
Fortunately the canal was only half full of water, and neither the mules or wagon were injured. J. J.
Tyrol's teamster, who happened to be in the vicinity, came to the assistance of Mr. Bunting and helped him draw his wagon out of the canal. Mr. Bunting had his wagon loaded with groceries and produce and some of it was damaged by being thrown into the water.

There are three cases of small-pox in Bristol. Two at 429 Dorrance street, and one at 393 Lafayette street.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Edward G. Yeomans
Pastor
Bristol Presbyterian Church

O Lord, our merciful, heavenly Father, we come to Thee mindful that Thou knowest all our wants before we ask, but we come reminding ourselves of our dependence upon Thee and of Thy loving mercy in our behalf. Bestow upon us all things needful as Thou seest fit. May we be equal to learning the lessons Thou would teach us; to doing the things we ought to do and leaving undone the things we ought not to do. Bless us as we return to our several labors and occupations for this coming week. Guide us in all of our activities. Forgive us for our many short comings and when we sin against Thee. Keep us by Thy Holy Spirit as children of the covenant in the household of God. In Jesus' precious Name we pray. Amen.

New England States and Canada the bride and groom will reside in their newly built home on the Oxford-Tullytown road, Emilie.

The bride's traveling costume was a light blue summer coat suit, pink nylon blouse, white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the bride, Mrs. Baker, wore an aqua blue flowered dress. The groom's mother, Mrs. Mershon wore a dusty rose lace dress, white accessories and a corsage of white flowers.

The bride is a graduate of Falls Township High School, class of 1948, and is employed by Hunter Mfg. Co., Emilie. The groom is a graduate of Falls Twp. High School, class of 1947 and is employed by First Mechanics Bank, Trenton, N. J.

Americans Start First Big Counter-Push

leashed after a night-long artillery barrage.

Around Monday mid-day, the troops were reported by a U. S. spokesman to be making "good progress" in what Gen. Douglas MacArthur officially described as an "offensive."

A regiment of the newly-landed First Provisional Marine Brigade went over to the attack on the extreme south wing of a 72-mile-wide sector in their first Korean combat action. The leathernecks lunged into battle on the eighth anniversary of the memorable Marine landing on Guadalcanal in the initial American offensive of World War II.

Hours after it was announced in Tokyo that the counter-drive was progressive, field dispatches revealed that the large-scale onslaught was encountering difficulties.

These advances said massed communist guns of at least 120mm caliber opened up quickly to pour blistering shellfire into the American troops and South Korean commando units.
